GOING TO WASHINGTON

Alexandria to be Represented by Citizens of all Classes in Big Parade at Capital Tonight.

"Let every man do his duty, and thus honor Alexandria, by being on hand and taking part in the parade at Washington," said Dr. Wm. M. Smith, at the close of the mass meeting held in the Opera house last evening at which the final plans were perfected for the big ovation which is to be given President Wilson tonight.

And not only the men, but the ladies, too, are invited, many of whom it is expected will go in automobiles.

The meeting was largely attended and was enthusiastic from start to finish. Dr. Smith presided as chairman, with J. H. Trimyer, secretary. Reports were received from each of the committees through the various chairmen, and indications are that the city will do itself honor by the representative delegation which will take part in the big parade tonight.

To Go on Steamer Macalester.

Chairman Julian Y. Williams, of the committee on transportation, reported that the steamer Charles Macalester had been secured, and that all Alexandrians who will participate in the parade can go on the steamer. It will leave the Cameron street wharf at 6:45 o'clock sharp, returning from Washington at 11 o'clock.

All who are to march in the parade are requested to assemble at 6:00 o'clock at the intersection of Washington and King streets. The column will form on Washington street, with right resting on King, from which the line of march will be taken down King to the Cameron street wharf to the steamer.

The automobilists will meet the Alexandria delegation on their arrival at the place of formation in Washington, which will be at Third street, south of Pennsylvania avenue, right column resting on the avenue.

Formation of Alexandria Delegation.

Alexandria city and county will be represented in the parade by six divisions, made up as follows:

First Division.

Band; Major Wm. M. Smith, chief marshal; Julian Y. Williams, chief aid; Charles Keith Carlin, aid; Alexandria High School Cadet corps; city officials.

Second Division.

Kenneth W. Ogden, aid; Alexandria firemen and Boy Scouts.

Third Division.

Charles B. Swan, aid; Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants' Association.

Fourth Division.

Band; J. Fred Birrell and Walter C. Foster, aids; Alexandria citizens.

Fifth Division.

Fairfax county citizens, George K. Pickett, aid; Alexandria county citizens in automobiles with band, Smith Deal, aid.

Sixth Division.

G. Washington Lewis and John N. Lawler, aids; this division being made up of automobiles appropriately decorated.

A vote of thanks was given the lessee of the Opera house for the use of the same for last night's meeting, also to the Southern railway company for courtesies in furnishing red lights for tonight's parade, and to Congressman Carlin for defraying the expense of chartering the steamer Charles Macalester.

Dr. Smith took occasion to speak in commendation of the excellent manner in whicch the chairmen and various committees had discharged their duties and in giving him such hearty support in arranging the multitude of details connected with the arrangements.

President Schwarzman of the Retail Merchants' Association reported that they would attend in a body and similar reports were received from all the other organizations, so that it was estimated that upwards of a thousand would be in line, from the number reported last night.

Chairman Bryan of the finance committee reported that sufficient funds had been contributed to liquidate all expenses, which was gratifying news.

ARRIVAL OF COLD WAVE

Cold Northwest Winds Cause Rapid Decline in Mercury in Thermometer Last Night.

The entire country is in the grip of a cold wave that extends as far South as the Gulf States. Snow is reported all along the western slope of the Appalachian Mountains. The temperature has gone below the freezing point in many parts of the South.

Richmond reported snow yesterday as did also Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. While the air was penetrating and the heavens overcast, there was but a bare suspicion of snow in Alexandria, only a few flakes having been seen floating lazily to the earth.

While this section experienced the first real winter weather of the season yesterday it was far better off than other cities, both north, east and south.

Towards the close of yesterday clearing conditions were in evidence, and early in the night the giants of the north sent forth blasts upon their conch shells, which in a short time brought the mercury down to the freezing point. While the blasts were heavy, the wind did not reach an alarming velocity, and its force diminished somewhat during the night.

The temperature this morning was lower than at any time during the present fall. It was, in fact, wintry weather, and overcoats were in evidence everywhere.

The weather prognosticators tells us present conditions will continue during the next few days.

SWITCHMEN'S LONG HOURS

Testimony as to 12 to 16-hour Days Given at Arbitration Hearing.

New York, Nov. 16.—Instances where railroad switchmen worked 14 to 15 hours a day and fell asleep after eating lunch, causing them to lose their jobs when they failed to return on time were cited yesterday by F. L. Eggleston, a switchman in the New York Central yards at Buffalo, before the Board of Arbitration in the controversy between the Switchmen's Union and 13 railroads over demands of the men for an eight-hour day, and an increase of 10 to 12 cents an hour in wages.

Eggleston testified he averaged 12 hours a day and that he does not see his little son awake for weeks at times. Some jobs in the Buffalo yards, he asserted average 14 and 15 hours.

B. B. Duschane, a foreman employed in Detroit by the Michigan Central, testified that by working three hours a day overtime he is able to bring his earnings to a basis where he can support his family. He calculated that if he worked 10 hours a day for 365 days a year he would receive as foreman $1387, for the year. A helper, he said would earn $1,247, Duscham asserted that some of the crews in the yards work 16 hours a day, 10 hours elapsing sometimes between lunch and the evening meal. He said that rents in Detroit have risen 85 to 250 per cent. in the last five years and that staple articles have risen from 30 to 220 per cent over last year.

John P. Pfohl, of Buffalo, a switchman, who was employed in the New York Central Railroad yards at Buffalo, where he lost both his legs, was carried to the witness chair to testify on working conditions. He blamed his accident on the fact that the tracks in the yards were too close together. He was not subjected to cross-examination.

T. J. Hanrahan, yard conductor, for the Nickel Plate road, at Cleveland, said the men there worked an average of 13 1-2 hours a day.

Extracts from Dutch, French and Belgian newspapers were given out by the Overseas News Agency in Berlin yesterday showing the widespread idleness in Belgium. One Belgian paper placed the number of idle working men at 700,000 saying they refused to work because they preferred to live off the relief money.

TO LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE

West Virginia Governor Expected to Ignore G. O. P. Clamor.

Charleton, W. Va., Nov. 16—The matter of calling an extra session of the Legislature hangs in the balance. C., Nov. 16—A protest against alleged discrimination against women in filling civil service position was sent to the White House yesterday by the National Board of the American Woman Suffrage Association. AWAITING BIDS

Danger in Carrying Out Big Navy Program

Washington, Nov. 16—Secreatry of the Navy Daniels conferred yesterday with representatives of the principal shipbuilding companies in in effort to eradicate the difficulties which stand in the way o fthe great shipbuilding program approved at he last session of Congress. The Department has advertised for bids on 4 battleships, 4 scout cruisers, 15 submarines and 16 destroyers but hus far the only bids which have been received are for four scout cruisers, which were submitted by the Seattle Construction and Drydock Company.

The Department feels that, unless the shipbuilding companies can be prevailed upon to alter their attitude toward the contracts advertised in accordance with the Naval Appropriation bill, grave danger exists of delay in carrying out the bigger navy program laid down by Congress. In today's conference Secretary Daniels expressed the disappointment of the Department at the failure of the shipbuilders to submit bids on the Government's program and called upon them to aid him in working out a practical solution of the dangerous problem which has arisen.

BULLETS STOP A SLAYER

Man Might Have Escaped Had He Not Returned for Clothing

Wilmington, Del., No. 16—Awed by bullets from the revolvers of half a dozen policemen and detectives, Jesse Redden, colored, aged 25, alleged murderer of James Demby, colored, aged 40, who was shot at Third and Monroe streets early yesterday morning, was captured in a field about one mile south of the Artillery Fuse Company's plant, in South Wilmington, at noon today. Motorcycle Officer Robinson placed Redden under arrest after the alleged murderer, weak from exhaustion and fright, had almost collapsed. The prisoner's desire for clothes he had left in his home, at No. 503 Lafayette street, proved his undoing despite the fact that he had had 12 hours' start on the police.

He met a colored girl in a house on Buttonwood street and sent her to his home for some clothes and she revealed his hiding place to the police.

FOR CURFEW LAW

Police Commissioners Ask City Council to Adopt Such Ordinance

A resolution was passed at the meeting of the board of Police Commissioners last night asking that a curfew law be put in effect in Alexandria.

Commissioner Knight called attention to the fact that a number of young boys are roaming the streets at night, some of whom are believed to be doing more or less petty thieving and possibly acting as scouts for older thieves. He very properly urged the passage of a curfew law in order to break up such gangs, and the board unanimously adopted a resolution requesting the Common Council to pass an ordinance to that effect.

Mayor Fisher presided and all of the police commissioners were present.

Chief Goods reported that 95 cases had been brought up in police court for various offenses since the last meeting of the board, and Mayor Fisher and the commissioners complimented the police department for the prompt and energetic manner in which the laws were being enforced.

ALL OVER THE STATE

Events of Interest in Various Sections of Virginia Told in Short Paragraphs.

Kenneth S. Patton, eldest son of John S. Patton, librarian at the University of Virginia, has been assigned to the consulate of Calais, France, Since his appointment to the consular service about eight years ago Mr. Patton has held positions at Marseilles, Rome, Lisbon, Cognac and La Rochelle. He recently was assigned to service with the consul-general at Paris, during the pressure of business at that office.

Molly Elliot Seawell, author of widely read historical romances and stories for boys, died yesterday in Washington, aged 56. Miss Seawell was a native of Gloucester county, and was a grandniece of President John Tyler. She had been a resident of Washington since childhood. Miss Seawell was a pronounced anti-suffragist. Her home in Washington was the meeting place of some of the most eminent writers in the country, and in later years acquired the dignity of a salon.

Of those who took the Rhoades scholarship examinations, held at the University of Virginia on October 3 and 4, two University of Virginia students passed successfully—Arthur Kyle Davis, jr., of Petersburg, and William Lanier Allen, of Wartrace, Tenn. The other successful candidate is William P. Nickell, of Glade Springs, Va. A date now is being arranged for a meeting of the committee of selection, and as soon as this committee comes to a decision the successful candidate will be notified of his appointment. The chairman of the committee is Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the university.

S. W. George, a prominent farmer and landowner, of Loudoun county, and head of the firm of S. W. George and Co., of Brunswick, Md., was instantly killed; S. H. Bennett, of the same firm, probably fatally injured, and Mrs. Bennett and Miss Dora George, daughter of Mr. George, seriously hurt, when the auto in which they were traveling was struck and demolished by an express train on the Washington and Old Dominion Railroad at Paeonian Springs, yesterday evening. The three injured persons are now in the hospital at Leesburg. It is reported that they were traveling with all the curtains in the car, drawn, which were needed as a protection against the cold wind. This made it difficult for Mr. Bennett, who was driving the car, to see or hear approaching trains at the crossing and he had driven the car onto the tracks before he knew that any train was near.

FIND BODY THROUGH DREAM

Drowned Man Recovered When Widow Had Vision Weeks After

Duncannon, Pa., Nov. 16—A dream of his widow, led to the finding of the body of Gustav Dill, of Duncannon— drowned in the Susquehanna River there, three weeks ago—after a five minutes' search.

Experienced rivermen had presumably exhausted every human effort to find the body and had given up the search. Although a new resident of Duncannon and practically a stranger there, Mrs. Dill described to the minutest detail the place where, in her dream, she saw the body found.

She was unable at first to prevail upon any person to take up her dream. Finally, two old rivermen, uncredulous but full of pity, agreed to take up the search again. Within five minutes after the men had thrown in their grappling hooks, the body was hooked and brought to the surface.

DID IT PAY?

The good book says "the poor ye have always with you," and it might also be added, likewise the critics and fault finders, for their number is not small.

As far back as the time when the woman annointed the feet of the Saviour with the precious ointment, the ancestor of what has proved to be a large army of critics was there to ask why the ointment was not sold and the money given to the poor.

The same conditions exist today.

How many times here in the city of Alexandria has the question been asked since the Gypsy Smith meetings closed, "did the revival pay?" Let us see.

This afternoon a mother and her three children followed to the tomb the mortal remains of a beloved husband and father—one of the six hundred and ninety who started in the better life as a result of the revival services in question. Previous to his death, during the days since the revival closed, the deceased brother had testified as to the joy and satisfaction he was experiencing in the service of God, and that he felt safe as to the future in whatever danger his duties as a railroad man might take him.

What answer do you think he would have made to the question Tuesday morning when he realized he was facing death? What would be the answer today of that widowed mother?

What value shall be placed upon a human soul? In the bible we read "what shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

It is a pretty high estimate, is it not?

In the light of that knowledge let us put the question "do revivals pay?" on one side of the scales, and a single human soul on the other, and see how they balance! How do they measure up?

But that is not all.

What of the good influences that have been brought to bear upon the lives of men and women? How many have been made better and happier? How many homes are brighter as a result? What is it worth? Can the real value to the individuals or to the community be computed?

Is the answer plain enough?

IT SHOLD BE ADOPTED.

The action taken by the board of police commissioners last evening requesting the city council to pass a curfew law, is a step in the right direction. The editor of the Gazette speaks from experience gained while residing in a city where such a law was in force. An ordinance of that character cannot possibly do harm to any and it might be the means of doing much good to a large number of youngsters by keeping them off the streets at night when they should be at home.

It was stated at the meeting of the police commissioners last evening that the city is more or less infested by a gang of young boys who keep watch of the movements of the police officers, are believed to be engaged in pilfering whenever opportunity offers, and possibly acting in the capacity of scouts for older depredators. Were a law enforced which would send them home at a proper hour, say not later than nine o'clock, it might save them from unpleasant experiences and other people much annoyance.

A gentleman was in the city a short time ago who had travelled around the world three times and stated that in all the cities visited by him, he had never seen children permitted on the streets so late at night as he had in Alexandria. Similar observations have been made by others, and it would seem the part of wisdom to take action regarding the matter without further delay.

There is such a thing as encouraging crime, through a lax attention to the adoption and enforcment of proper laws. Let there be no such possibility in Alexandria, especially with regard to the younger generation.

MARVELS OF THE AGE.

Wireless service between the United States and Japan was established by the Marconi Wireless Company yesterday afternoon. The first message was a formal greeting from President Wilson to the Emperor of Japan, extending felicitations on the new means of communication between the two countries. A reply from the emperor was received at San Francisco and transmitted to the President at Washington by telegraph.

The above brings to mind the conception and perfection of ocean telegraphy, fifty-eight years ago. The belief that messages could be sent under the Atlantic Ocean was for years regarded by many as a dream and S. F. B. Morse, Cyrus W. Field and others were regarded as harmless visionaries.

Field was interested in the construction of a telegraph line from New York to Newfoundland, where messages were to be placed upon fast steamers and sent to Ireland, this being the shortest route across the Atlantic. While revolving a globe he was studying, he asked himself, the question, Instead of placing the messages upon a steamer, why not send them across the ocean on a wire. He found comparatively few who manifested faith in such a scheme. He, however, believed it to be practicable and eventually formed a company. In process of time the cable was completed and placed upon the British man-of-war, Agamemnon and the United States frigate Niagara, these vessels having met in mid-ocean. The Agamemnon started toward Ireland, and the Niagara toward Newfoundland. Upon the arrival of the latter, to the joy of the officers and crew, they found they could talk to Ireland.

People living at the time will recall the exultation which went up all over the world at this great feat. Field and his associates were the lions of the day. President Buchanan and Queen Victoria exchanged greetings and the dispatches were published everywhere in the civilized world. The cable, however, worked but two weeks, and the war between the states having later been precipitated, the world was without an ocean cable until 1866, when the historic Great Eastern laid a new one. From that time ocean telegraphy has been in operation almost daily. Several other cables have since been laid.

While the above was justly regarded as the greatest marvel of the age, we live at a time when people are talking across the Pacific Ocean at a point 4,600 miles wide, and without wires.

PAST HISTORY RECALLED.

The very narrow margin by which the Republicans hope to control the next House of Representatives gives pertinency at this time to a bit of political history, as the Philadelphia Record observes. When that party carried the Presidential election of 1888, securing a majority of the electoral vote, but only a minority of the popular vote, it also secured possession of Congress, which had been Democratic for several years. Its margin of safety was very slight, however, the Republicans having 166 Representatives to 159 on the Democratic side, and the late Thomas B. Reed, who was chosen speaker, and the other G. O. P. managers decided that this was not sufficient for working purposes. The daring scheme was then devised of unseating enough Democratic members to give the Republicans the majority they desired. In order to carry out this abominable plot the adoption of rules of procedure was postponed for a time, a number of trumped-up contests were started, and under the iron rule of Czar Reed the Republicans threw from their seats Democrats legally elected by the people. In vain did the Democrats fume and rage. Without the protection of the customary rules of the House they could do nothing, and the Republicans rode over them roughshod. After the consummation of this political villainy the Republicans turned to tariff tinkering and passed the abomination known as the McKinley bill.

Never did a crime bring swifter punishment. The McKinley tariff became a law in the summer of 1890. In November of that year a new Congress was chosen. Indignant at the highhanded proceedings at Washington and furious over the increased taxes imposed upon them by the new tariff, the American people rose in all the majesty of their wrath and kicked the Republicans from office. They then jumped upon the faithless legislators, threw them into the creek and otherwise inflicted all possible indignities upon them. The Republican strength, which stood at 166 at the opening of the Fifty-first Congress, was reduced to 88 in the next House, being cut almost exactly in half. The Democratic representation at the same time rose to 236, and that party also secured control of the Senate. Not since its organization did the G. O. P. cut such a contemptible and unimportant figure as in the Fifty-second Congress. In 1892 Grover Cleveland was elected President.

These facts are cited as a warning to our Republican friends against placing any reliance upon a slender majority in the next House. It will avail them nothing. The crimes of 1890 cannot be repeated in 1917. Besides, the Democrats control the Senate, and then there is Woodrow Wilson in the White House. There will be no retrogression. Instead we expect to see both parties seeking to make a new record for patriotic and useful legislation, with 1920 ever in mind.

BE A GOOD FORGETTER

Life is too short to remember the things that would prevent people from doing their best in life's struggle.

"Forgetting the things that are behind, I press forward," said a brave old man in the first century.

Usually old men live largely in the past, but this man lived in the future. He was a good forgetter.

Many of us fail because we do not forget. We remember our frilures and they hamper us. We remember our victories and they make us vain. We remember our enemies and fritter away valuable time trying to get even with them. But—the successful man forgets.

He knows the past is irrevocable. He lets the dead past bury its dead. He is in too much of a hurry to attend the funeral of his hopes. He is running a race. He cannot afford to look behind. His eye is on the winning post.

The magnanimous man forgets.

He is too big to let little things disturb him. He forgets quickly and forgives easily. If any one does him a wrong he "considers the source" and keeps sweet. It is only your small man who cherishes a low revenge. Or an Indian. The Indian never forgets and because he is ever wanting to pay some one back, he never gets on. Be a forgetter. Bigness dictates it, and—success demands it. Then be a forgetter, and follow the Golden Rule, and do unto others as you would that they should do unto you.

HOVEY AND UNCLE REMUS.

A valued reader of the Gazette residing in Alexandria contributes the following interesting sketch:

The writer of the immortal "Stein Song"— Richard Hovey—was one of a brilliant trio who were for a time well nigh inseparable.

In his love for the things of nature he could meet the others, Carman and Roberts, on equal ground, but in his simplicity and child-like faith in "all things great and small," he more closely resembled Whitcomb Riley.

During the winter of '97, he was called to Washingon to his father's death-bed, and on the day after the funeral, and old colored man, who, in his prime had been a servant in the family, called to inquire after "de ole Gen'ral," Hovey said, "Why, Uncle Remus, didn't you know father is dead?" The old man looked grieved beyond expression, and replied, "Daid, an' ye didn't tole me?" As he stood with bowed head, the picture of woe, Hovey said, "Uncle Remus, would you like me to take you to father's grave?"

The old man brightened instantly and said, "Will ye take me, Massa Dick?" "I will surely," said Hovey. "Come tomorrow morning and we will go together."

Next morning Uncle Remus was on hand at the proper time and off they started — Hovey, friend and translator of Maeterlinck, courted by savants of two continents, handsome erect and full of vigor, suiting his step to the slow and tottering gait of the feeble old man.

When they reached Arlington and Uncle Remus saw the beautiful resting place of "de ole Gen'ral," he was in a measure comforted for the oversight of some one in neglecting to notify him of General Hovey's death. When the poet left him at his own door he said, "Massa Dick, I sholy is bliged to ye fer showin' me whar de ole Gen'ral sleeps. I'll res' content now."

Hovey returned home brightened with the joy of giving comfort to the old man's heart, and who knows but some of it crept into and enriched the work he shortly, afterward gave to the world of letters?

All Hope of Change in California Virtually Abandoned.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 16—Republican leaders in California yesterday afternoon virtually abandoned all hope that the official Presidential count would throw the State to Charles Evans Hughes. With the count more than half completed and in several counties wholly completed, President Wilson's majority of over 3,600 as shown by the unofficial returns virtually is unimpaired. Errors in the unofficial trabulation are about balanced in favor of Hughes and Wilson, neither gaining or losing any considerable number of votes.

New York, Nov. 16—Col. Roosevelt chatted freely but privately with 1920 boomers and newspaper men at the Hotel Langdon yesterday.

Asked to comment on the defeat of Charles E. Hughes, the Colonel broadly grinned and came back with "I am in the same position as the mate to whom the captain of a New Bedford ship said, 'what I want from you, sir, is silence, and damn little of that.' That will be my course for maybe a few months."

The Colonel on visiting his hotel here for the first time since the defeat of Mr. Hughes, found letters and telegrams in abundance, reading in substance, "Had you instead of Hughes been the Republican candidate Wilson would have been beaten to a frazzle. Get ready quick for 1920."

The preliminary hearing in the case of Dr. Karl Armgaard Graves, selfstyled international spy, set for yesterday before United States Commissioner Anson S. Taylor, in Washington, was postponed until December 6, at the request of the United States government. The postponement was asked in order to give Prince von Hatzfeldt, who brought about Grave's arrest, time to ask his government if he may appear in the case to prosecute. Graves was arrested in Washington Saturday, charged with attempting to extort money for relinquishing letters addressed to Countess von Bernstorff.

BRITISH RULE AUTOCRATIC

Admiral Beresford Says Country Has Reached Serious Crisis Which Needs Plain Speaking.

London, Nov. 16.—The matter of the destruction of British shipping by German submarines came up in the House of Lords, yesterday afternoon. Baron Sydenham invited the Government to make a declaration in the nature of a "ton for ton" policy in behalf of Great Britain and her allies as a reply to "the monstrous proceedings" of the German submarines.

He declared that there was an uneasy feeling in the country that the submarine menace was more serious than the authorities were willing to admit.

Admiral Lord Beresford said that Great Britain had arrived at a serious crisis, calling for energy and foresight. It was time for plain speaking, because the House of Commons and the newspapers had been muzzled by the most autocratic Government since the time of Pharaoh.

"Had the blockade been properly enforced from the first." he asserted, "we should not have been faced by this submarine menace."

The Marquis of Crewe, Lord President of the council, replying for the Government, said it was useless to make such declarations as Lords Sydeham and Beresford demanded, without the power to enforce them. The only voices which could speak with influence now were the voices of the cannon on the various fronts.

"It is useless", said the Marquis of Crewe, "to threaten to exact particular reparations in the terms of peace unless we are able to impose those terms by obtaining complete victory."

The Admiralty, continued the Lord President, had been singularly successful in the destruction of enemy submarines, but the difficulties in dealing with this menace had increased.

The Earl of Lytton, civil lord of the Admiralty, having denied that the fleet had departed from its traditional policy of seeking out and destroying the enemy, the subject was dropped.

Winchester Unveils Monument To Confederate Sympathizers

Winchester, Va., Nov. 16—The large Confederate monument erected in front of the Courthouse here as a memorial to those residents of Winchester and Frederick county who were faithful to the cause of the Southern Confederacy was unveiled and dedicated yesterday afternoon in the presence of a number of veterans, their families and friends. practically every section of the lower Shenandoah Valley was represented, as well as the neighboring portions of West Virginia.

The monument consists of the figure of a young Virginian going to war, fully equipped, of heroic size and cast in bronze. It stands on a base of polished brown granite, and that in turn on a broader base of the same material. The monument was erected at a cost of about $5,000. It was designed by Frederick C. Hibbard, of Chicago.

The principal address at the dedication was made by former Congressman Harry St. George Tucker, of Lexington, Va. A musical program was rendered by the City and Friendship bands. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. J. H. Lacy, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Winchester, and the statue was unveiled by Billie McGuire and John Eddy, grandsons of veterans. A poem written for the occasion by Miss Kate McVicar was read by R. Gray Williams, City Solicitor of Winchester. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Dr. W. D. Smith, rector of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church.

VIRGINIA CONFERENCE GROWS

Richmond, Va., Nov. 16—Reasonable growth has taken place within the bounds of the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South during the past year, and gratifying spiritual and financial conditions prevail at present, according to reports made by the 0 presiding elders to Bishop John C. Kilgo at the opening session of the one hundred and thirty-fourth annual meeting at the Broad Street Methodist Church yesterday.

The Rev. Dr. B. F. Lipscomb was unanimously re-elected secretary of the conference and the Rev. J. T. Whitley and Frank L. Wells were elected assistant secretaries.

The roll call showed 187 preachers and 12 lay delegates present.

Albert Morrison White, a farmer of near Griffith, in Bath County, was struck by a freight train Tuesday and received wounds in the head which proved fatal. He was about sixty years old and was deaf.

WILSON THANKS WEST

Says Critical Duties Prevent Him From Accepting Invitation to Visit Section Now.

Washington, Nov. 16.—President Wilson expressed his gratitude to the people of the West for their support in the election in messages sent last night in reply to requests that he visit that section before Congress opens. He said he would be unable to make the trip at present because of critical duties, but promised to go later if possible.

The President sent the following telegram to William H. King, successful candidate for the United States Senate from Utah:

"The invitation to visit the West tugs hard at my heart because I feel deeply grateful to all the West for the splendid and generous support you have given me; but I would not be worthy of their generous confidence if I were to leave my desk at a time when duties of the most critical and pressing sort crowd upon me. I am promising myself the pleasure of such a trip if ever I can get free from the toils of exacting duty, and in the meantime wish to express my deep gratitude, appreciation and regret."

He sent this message to F. G. Bonfils, and H. H. Tammen, of the Denver Post:

"You may be sure that I would come if I could, but I would not deserve the confidence of the people of Colorado and the rest of the great West if I were to turn away at this juncture from the public duties which press upon me. I want, first of all, to be sure that I am doin gthe job right which they have imposed upon me with their generous confidence before I give myself any margin of holiday and pleasure. I wish most heartily that I were free to come, but I really am not, and can only thank you from the bottom of my heart.

"MORE LIKE WORK OF A MIRACLE THAN OF MEDICINE," HE SAYS

Washington Man is Telling How Dreco Has Conquered a Bad Case of Stomach Trouble and Constipation.

"Ijust cant tell you how glad I am that I found out about Dreco. I really feel like a different man since taking it, and I feel it is my duty to let everybody know what it was that got me over my many years of suffering," said Mr. G. King, of No. 11 Eighth street, southeast.

"I suffered with indigestion and a bad stomach for years. My food would always sour and form gas around my heart, and cause intense suffering. I had an awful burning sensation in my chest that almost felt like a ball of fire. Although I tried many medicines I kept growing worse. It was impossible for me to sleep much, and I'd often walk the floor all night long. Pains over my kidneys troubled me very much, and I was continually constipated.

"I determined one day to try Dreco, as it seemed everyone was taking it, and it has been a great blessing to me. All that burning has gone out of my chest and the pains in my back have left me entirely. I can eat anything I want and enjoy it without having any gas around my heart afterward, and I am never troubled with constipation any more."

Dreco proved a great benefit to Mr. King because it contains certain medicinal properties that enrich the blood and promote a healthy appetite for nourishing food, thus helping to build up health and strength in a natural way.

Get a bottle of Dreco today from Allen's Drug store in Alexandria.

The President has also written letters to Gavin McNabb, Democratic National Committeeman of California and several other Democratic leaders in that State expressing his appreciation of California's support.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Charles Edward Cheney, Bishop of the Chicago Synod, reformed Episcopal Church, which he helped to found and for 56 years a rector of Christ Church, Chicago, died in Chicago yesterday. He was in his eighty-first year.

The usual Thanksgiving Day proclamation will be issued from the White House within the next few days. President Wilson told inquirers yesterday that he would follow custom and designate the last Thursday of the month, which is November 30. Because the date is close to Christmas there was a movement among some business men to set an earlier day for Thanksgiving.

John H. Crowley, a municipal justice of Lansing, Mich., ran over in his automobile and killed eight-year-old Edward Gurts in Baltimore, yesterday, just about one year after his own son had been killed in the same way in Michigan. Mr. Crowley was one of a party of nine men and women who were on their way in two automobiles to Florida.

National prohibition and total abstinence were favored in a resolution passed yesterday at the annual convention of the New York Diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church. In another resolution the Mayor of New York was asked to refuse special licenses for the sale of liquor on New Year's Eve, which falls on Sunday. The Anti-Saloon League also has filed a protest with the Mayor against the issuance of such licenses for New Year's Eve.

Jacob C. Diemer, wealthy retired farmer, his wife, Madie Diemer and his daughter, Magdalene, were yesterday formally charged with manslaughter in connection with the mysterious death of Christine Diemer, normal school graduate, whose bruised body was found in the Vermillion River, near Pontiac, Ill., All three were released on $10,000 bail to await the action of the January grand jury. Diemer, a venerable man of 72, is wealthy and owns much land. Miss Diemer disappeared October 27, The family said she had gone to Florida to spend the winter This week Mrs. Frank Haines, while crossing the river found the body. The girl's neck was broken and the skull fractured. There was no water in her lungs. It developed that the murdered girl controlled the family finances.

TO MAKE GERMANS WORK

Finishing Touches Put on "Man Power Bill" by Government

Berlin, Nov. 16—The finishing touching are now being given to the "Man Power bill," which provides for universal labor for all able-bodied Germans behind the front. The exact details of the measure have not been given out, but the newspapers indicate it will apply to all classes, rich and poor alike, affecting particularly the idle classes who live on private incomes and those engaged in activities not connected with prosecuting the war, which may be discontinued without injury to the body politic.

This form of compulsory service, it is understood, will not apply directly or specifically to women, but a consistent campaign will be made to utilize to the utmost this reservoir of labor power.

The measure will be submitted by the Government to the Bundesrat within a few days. The Reichstag, which adjourned only last week until February, will be reconvened to act upon the bill as soon as the Bundesrat shall have approved it.

All indications point to its speedy passage.

SINGLE BOMB INJURES 90.

Missile Dropped in Austrian Air Raid on Padua Kills 32.

Paris, Nov. 16.—A dispatch from Padua, Italy, says the total number of persons killed or wounded by a single bomb dropped by an Austrian aviator Saturday night aggregated 90, of whom 32 were killed. The dispatch adds that all the persons were non-combatants and that most of them were women and children.

The Austrian official communication of Sunday said that Saturday night Austrian seaplanes attacked Padua and dropped heavy bombs, making direct hits on the military headquarters building, the railway station and the infantry barracks.

THE NEW TEMPERANCE DRINK

PABLO

"You Can't Tell the Difference"

That is what they all say regarding Pablo, the new non-alcoholic beverage we are now offering to the trade.

Pablo is an unfermented beverage does not contain malt and is absolutely non-alcoholic. It is not a near-beer and should not be confused with the many so-called temperance drinks now being marketed that are really nothing more than fermented malt beverages, with a percentage of the alcohol extracted, the sale of which is liable to be accompanied by risk of prosecution.

Wherever Pablo has been introduced it has met with almost instant favor and popularity, proving to be a good repeater. As compared with other soft drinks, Pablo is in a class by itself—a drink with character and snap to it. It is of a sparkling amber color and has that pleasing hop tang that is a never-failing, never-tiring delight to the taste and which at the same time makes it a refreshing healthful and invigorating beverage.
